"The Passing Parade"

to you fellow students, whose feet will continue the parade down the halls of D. T. H. S., we, the Senior Class, dedicate this

The school sings on,
And the rhythm of its song
Is the beat
Of the feet
In the Passing Parade.

Students come; students go,
With running steps or slow,
And they pace
In their place
In the Passing Parade.

This parade is always passing;
Its marchers, always massing;
Through the hall
Sounds the call
Of the Passing Parade.

When we leave our school behind us,
You will marching find us,
Heads aright,
Eyes alight,
In life's Passing Parade.

—Shirley Giles.

Hail to Dwight High—
May your colors fly high.
We're proud of our Alma Mater,
Standards so high.
Yea! Here's to—
Dwight High will win;
Yes, we know she will win;
So hail to Dwight;
We're out to fight—
Yes, fight for dear old green and white.

—Miss Ridinger.

"In the Parade"

We are ably led by our Principal who has been our leader for thirty-one years.

C. A. BROTHERS

During the time that Mr. Brothers has been superintendent of our public school system, our school has made great advancement and is today recognized as one of the finest in the State of Illinois.

To receive his education, Mr. Brothers attended Northern Illinois State Teachers College. He also attended Lake Forest University where he earned his A.B. degree; he received his Master's degree from Columbia University.

We, the members of the Senior Class, wish to pay special tribute to Miss Hubbard and Miss Lynn, who have been members of the D. T. H. S. faculty for the past twenty-one years.

Each fall members of the senior class who are interested in writing, especially for the "Trojan News" or for the "Rudder," organize the Scribblers Club.

They hold meetings once a month to study news stories, interviews, feature stories, speech reports, editorials, sports stories, and head lines. A movie, "Trees to Tribune," showing the history of one daily newspaper from "trees to the Chicago Tribune," was scheduled for one of the second semester meetings.

During the school year the Senior Commercial Club had many varied programs. At one, Mr. Baldwin, from the State Farm Mutual in Bloomington, conducted a discussion on the subject, "Qualifications of a Secretary."

The club proved very beneficial and encouraging. Much of the knowledge gained will be valuable in the seeking of secretarial or general office positions after high school graduation.

This school year the Girls' Glee Club has been composed of thirty-eight members, the four classes being almost equally represented.

It has been the aim of the organization to study more seriously the technique of correct singing by including correct posture, breath control, tone production, and voice placement in their lessons.

The highlight of the first semester's work was the presentation of the Christmas Cantata, "The Babe of Bethlehem," by Bernard Hamblen on December 18. This was given by the Mixed Chorus but included solos and small groups as well. A Hammond organ was effectively used for accompaniment.

The other programs presented or participated in by the Girls' Glee Club are the same as those of the Boys' Glee Club.

The Rudder is one of Dwight Township High School's oldest traditions, the first issue having appeared in 1918. It is published by the members of the senior class.

Members of the staff are selected from those seniors who apply for definite positions early in September. Written applications are usually requested the second week of school. Some basic idea is chosen around which to build the book. The 1942 yearbook features "The Passing Parade."

Heading the literary staff this year is Shirley Giles, with Leigh Roberts, Gladys Campbell, Peggy Goodman, Marilyn Metta, and Patricia Burns helping. Glenn Dippon is business manager, and his assistants are Eudora Santacroce, John Brorsen, Winifred Long, and Lorraine Osborn. The photographers are Dorothy Kemp, chairman; Dorothy Riber; and Maxine Mueller. The typists are Agnes Campbell and Patricia Waters.

FOOTBALL

When football practice began this year, it really started with a bang. Five lettermen returned to start the season. They were Sodini, Currie, Mathisen, Riccolo, and Drew. The Dwight team suffered only one defeat and one tie, with a total of six wins. Bob Drew and Ray Mathisen served as captains of their team.

Dwight's opening game of the 1941 season took place on the Dwight field, September 12. The husky team went on the field against Watseka with strong determination to win. Both teams gave a wonderful exhibition of blocking, running, passing, and line play. The second half found the two teams battling between the 30-yard line, with Dwight making their only first down of the game in the third quarter. Frankie Riccolo got off a 50-yard kick shortly after the beginning of the fourth quarter, which only proved that Watseka may have held the offensive advantage, but Dwight had a decisive advantage over them from the kicking angle. The game ended in a scoreless tie, but it was one of the best games ever seen here by football fans.

Normal Community downed the Trojans on Friday afternoon, September 19, with a fourth period attack that netted them 13 points, and victory in the opening game of the Corn Belt League played at Normal. It was a hard fought battle, and the Trojans showed great skill in their passing and interference. However, Normal Community launched a great drive to pull down a victory with a final total score of 20-7.

Dwight met Morris on the night of September 26. Our powerful team proved too strong for the rivals. The running and passing of Frank Riccolo and the defensive work of Bob Drew helped pull Dwight through with their first victory of the 1941 season. The final score was in favor of Dwight, 27-7.

On October 3, the Trojans went out on the field to win their first Corn Belt League victory. The Normal team had an experienced line, but it gave our boys little to worry about. After the shift of Captain Bob Drew from tackle to full back, a marked improvement was shown in our team's tackling and running. At the close of the fourth quarter, Coach Pace sent in his reserves to take over, and Steve Zappa carried the ball over for a touch-down. Dwight celebrated their second victory with a score of 26-6.

The Dwight Trojans spoiled the Fairbury homecoming when they opened a second quarter drive that gave them 13 points. Dwight scored twice in the second quarter, once in the third, and once in the fourth. Fairbury scored in the fourth quarter, leaving the final score 27-7.

Friday, October 17, was Homecoming day for the Trojans. Our team won their fourth straight game by downing Yorkville. The Homecoming was a huge success with the Trojans running up a score of 30-0.

Dwight won their fifth straight victory of the season when they downed a big Clinton eleven with a score of 6-0. The Trojans' running attack was led by Bob Drew. Ray Mathisen, big tackle, played one of the best defensive games of the season. The team scored shortly after the second period opened, when Jim Landon went over for a touch-down. The try for the extra point was no good. Clinton made their only real threat near the third quarter's ending, when they used their aerial game to advance the ball to the Dwight 11-yard line.

The Trojans had little trouble in disposing of their old rivals, the Pontiac Indians. Dwight scored two quick touchdowns in the opening minutes of the first quarter when Bob Drew intercepted a Pontiac pass on the first play and returned it to his own 21-yard line. Frankie Riccolo then cut through a hole off left tackle and went over for the touchdown. Pontiac made their only scoring threat of the game when they carried the ball down to the Trojans' 12-yard line. On the next play, one of the most spectacular runs ever seen on the Dwight field was made by the Trojans' leading scorer, James Landon. The final score was 40-0.

This club is made up of boys who are active in basketball and football. Its purpose is to bring about a spirit of closer relationship between these athletic-minded boys.

Every year the Varsity Club selects the most outstanding player of 1942. This year Robert Drew was selected as the most valuable football player.

BASKETBALL

The basketball season this year really put us in a dither. As the expression goes, only in reverse, the season came in like a lion and went out like a lamb. Again this year, the Trojans had to put up with more defeats than victories. As the season ended, the record showed them with a total score of eight wins and eleven losses.

At the beginning of the season, things looked bright and cheerful for our hard driving Trojans. Then fate started to fool around with us and put us on the spot. Ray Mathisen was unable to participate because of a foot injury. Also, at the end of the first semester, we lost Harry Laubhan and Frank Riccolo, both very important members of the squad.

However, knowing the task that lay before them, the team, with very able substitutes, fought each game to the finish, never discouraged.

This year the lightweights had a very capable squad and did very well for themselves.

THE 1941-1942 SCHEDULE

The regular nineteen game schedule was played this year. Dwight participated in three tournaments. They started with the Pontiac Holiday tournament, but the first game resulted in a shut-out for the Trojans.

The next tournament was the Northeastern Conference held in Coal City. The first game played at Coal City was a victory for Dwight. The Trojans lost the second game of the tournament with a hard fought struggle.

They also participated in the Regional Tournament held at Dwight. They defeated Reddick the first game, 41-37. The next game they played was really a thriller. Wilmington defeated Dwight by one point, leaving the final score 23-24.

CLASS WILL

We, the seniors of 1942, of the Dwight Township High School, being of good memory and sound mind, after the completion of four memorable years in this venerable institution, under the helpful guidance of our worthy faculty, do hereby make, publish, ordain, and declare this to be our last Will and Testament.

I, Patricia Burns, leave my journalistic ability to the next high school reporter for the Dwight Star and Herald.

To Robert Christensen, I, Agnes Campbell, bequeath my stenographic ability.

I, Arlo Andersen, will my bashfulness to Eleanor Hayes with hopes for the best.

I, Calvin Bennington, leave my likeable manner to Marilyn Christman, although she seems already to be very pleasant.

My noon carload of girls, I, Donald Beyer, will to Marvin Kutz.

To any journalistic junior, I, Gladys Campbell, will the editorship of the Trojan News.

I, Rosemary Darm, bequeath my blonde hair to Faye Welch.

I, Mary Davis, leave my "Texas dream" to Margaret Gossrau.

To Jack Costello, I, Wayne Bloxam, leave my nickname, "Bluenose."

My characteristic line and manner, I, John Brorsen, leave to Donald Sorensen.

I, Leo Burger, will my careless driving habits to anyone who will try to correct them.

To Mary Corrigan, I, Mary Dransfeldt, bequeath my winsome way which has brought me much popularity.

I, Norma Drew, will give my high grades to Donald McNamara, if he will continue to study as hard as I have.

My quiet manners, I, Mary Duay, will to Shirley Reeb with no requests except to use them.

To John Metzke, I, Howard Burkhart, bequeath my interest in agriculture.

I, Gerald Christensen, leave my height to William Winkler.

I, Carl Clausen, leave my interest in manual arts to Andy Battrell.

I, Elizabeth Ely, have decided to leave nothing behind me, as I am taking everything with me.

I, Marie Englert, bequeath my charming smile to Joe Ruder.

To the editor of the 1943 Rudder, I, Shirley Giles, leave my management ability along with many troubles.

My shuffling manner, I, Robert Currie, leave to Oliver Zappa.

My secret about how to keep going steady, I, Robert Davy, will to Donald Van Dyke.

To the next business manager of the Rudder, I, Glenn Dippon, bequeath my executive ability.

To Ellen Paulsen, who doesn't really need it, I, Peggy Goodman, will my attractive beauty.

I, Catherine Grieff, leave my interest in home economics to Nancy Tock.

To Robert Skonetski and Robert Catemis, who may share it equally, I Lucille Haag, leave my roller skating ability.

The honors that I have won on the gridiron, I, Robert Drew, leave to Edward Christensen.

To anyone whose car needs tires, I, Philip Eckhoff, will my secret about the correct hitch-hiking technique.

I, William Hayden, will my Eastern accent to my sister Helen to keep it in the family.

I, Wanda Johnson, leave my pleasing voice to any girl who will use it to help the Glee Club.

My artistic ability, I, Anna Kelch, leave to any future art editor on the Trojan News staff.

To anyone who really needs it, I, Dorothy Kemp, will my pleasing personality.

My clerical experience at the A & P, I, Edward Herb, leave to Albert Haeffele.

I, Charles Hoffman, leave my gentlemanliness to Shervin Epstein.

To my brother Jim, who will probably need it most urgently during the next year, I, Walter Houck, leave the car which I have used so much.

I, Doris Komnick, leave many pleasant memories of D. T. H. S. behind me.

I, Aletha Kraft, bequeath my interest in sewing to Rita Conroy.

My neat appearance, I, Winifred Long, leave to anyone who needs it.

I, Charles Knudson, will my ability to take six subjects to any student who is mentally capable of doing so.

To Lucille Flint, I, James Landon, bequeath my happy-go-lucky personality.

My interest in romance, I, Harry Laubhan, leave to Gilbert Kamm, who already seems to be doing all right on his own.

I, Marilyn Metta, leave my interest in dramatics to Don Bessey.

I, Maxine Mueller, leave my lady-like ways to Jean Rentz.

Good Citizen

Each year the organization, Daughters of the American Revolution, sponsors a Good Citizenship contest. Three prominent girls are chosen by the members to the class and from these the winner is selected. Dorothy Riber, one of the most outstanding girls of the class of "42," was chosen as the D. A. R. representative from Dwight Township High School this year.

School Nurse

For five years Mrs. Bartells has spent one day a week at Dwight High School. During this time she has sponsored a dental clinic and a health clinic where all may go for consultation and advice.

Spanish American War Essay

Dorothy Kemp, a senior, won high honor in an essay contest sponsored by the Spanish American War Veterans. Her essay was entitled "Influences of the Spanish American War as Reflected in Recent Attitudes the United States Has Taken Toward World Events." Dorothy received a check for five dollars for winning first prize.

All-State

Robert Drew, a member of the class of 1942, and a letterman on the football squad since his freshman year, was honored at the close of the 1942 season by being appointed to the All-State Football Team. Accompanied by Coach Pace, Bob attended a banquet at the University of Illinois in honor of the boys selected for this team.

Miss Currie

At the close of the first semester Miss Aletha Currie came to Dwight Township High School to fill the vacancy in the language department left by Miss Ednamae McClelland.

CLASS PROPHECY

CLASS OF "42"

While seated at my desk, reliving the pleasant evening I had spent at Carnegie Hall listening to the golden voice of Wallace Patten, accompanied by that talented concert pianist Patricia Waters, I was rudely awakened from my reverie by the copy boy who announced that John Brorsen, the city editor, wanted to see me. He told me that he was going to start a series of stories about people in different walks of life. I was assigned to the job. Hopping into my autogiro, which is the popular mode of transportation in this year of 1952, having been perfected by a classmate of mine, Donald Beyer, I whirred over the continent in search of copy.

My first stop was Chicago. Leaving my autogiro at the airport, I took a taxi to the Loop. As I walked down State street, my eye was attracted by a glittering sign which read, "Hair Styled to Suit Your Personality." This looked good to me so I wandered in, and who should greet me but Lorraine Osborn. She told me that she was assistant to that famous beautician, Clara Ogg. She explained that Clara was designing a new hair dress for that famous actress, Peggy Goodman, who was opening that evening in a new play in the Great Chicago Play House owned and managed by Glenn Dippon. The gowns for the production were designed by Wanda Johnson. Anna Kelch and Maxine Mueller also had important parts in the play. I was delighted to hear of the good fortune of so many of my classmates, and it was mid-afternoon before I finally broke away.

I hailed a taxi to return to the airport, and upon entering, noticed that the driver looked familiar; it was Harold Rohlfs. He told me that he and Charles Hoffman had built up quite a business and now owned a chain of fifty taxies. I arrived at the airport just in time to see a huge transport land. Deciding to try to interview the pilot, I hurried to catch him but was stopped by the Campbell sisters, Gladys and Agnes. It seems that they are both stewardesses, and they told me that the pilot I was pursuing was Gerald Christensen. Turning to follow him, I was attracted by a large crowd gathered around a model of a cub plane designed by Leo Burger and John Zappa. Of course this interested me, but as I attempted to draw closer two stalwart guards obstructed my path. On closer inspection, they proved to be Arlo Anderson and Robert Sereno. However, since they were classmates of mine, I persuaded them to let me pass. Several photographers were taking pictures, and one was Calvin Bennington. Calvin had won the prize for the most interesting picture of 1951. On my way to my autogiro, I saw one of my fellow journalists, Dorothy Riber, hurrying to get a story.

I then boarded my autogiro and charted my course for Dwight, my home town. It was quite late when I arrived, so I went straight to a large hotel on Main street. At the desk were two of my old friends, Aletha Kraft and Doris Komnick. They told me that they owned this fine establishment. As I registered, the desk clerk, Rosemary Darm, directed my attention to a woman seated in the lounge. It proved to be Dorothy Kemp. After we had renewed our acquaintance, she told me that she had come to Dwight to carry on her research against cancer, in peace and quiet. Carl Clausen had designed her an ultra-modern laboratory. Here she and her equally famous assistant, William Hayden, are searching for a cure for this deadly disease. She told me that Dr. Leigh Roberts and nurse Norma Drew are also helping with the research. I congratulated her on her splendid work and retired to my room.

The next day I decided to call at the office of the "Dwightite Sun," a new daily newspaper owned by the Wilder twins, Donald and Ronald. Being on the outlook for news, I thought this would be the logical place to hunt for it. The place was in a whirl of activity. I pushed my way to a door marked "Private," and entered. Neither of the owners was there, but the city editor, Phillip Eckhoff, offered to help me in any way he could. First, I decided to inquire about some more of the class of "42." Phillip told me that Alveta Rhode is now in Hollywood and is known as the Queen of Technicolor. Dorothy Peterson is the manager of a popular restaurant in Los Angeles which is reputed to serve the best home-cooked food in California. Just then we were disturbed by the ringing of the phone. It was the mayor of Dwight, and I was proud to remember that James A. Zappa was also a member of my class. James asked the city editor to publish an editorial about the great work which is being done by Police Captain Robert Currie and his efficient police force, in ridding the city of vice. Realizing how busy Phillip must be, I took my leave and decided that enough time had been spent in Dwight and that I had better be moving on.

After having my autogiro serviced at that Super Station managed by Ralph Spangler and owned by Robert Davy, I took off about noon. It was a beautiful day and a real joy to ride through the clouds. As I skimmed along, surveying the landscape, my attention was drawn to a large farm, and circling over it I saw the words "Walter Houck's Dairy Farm" painted on the side of a large white barn. Further along, as the light was fading, I was glad to see a brilliant sign below me. Thinking it was a tourist camp, I swooped down and planned to spend the night. An attendant ran to meet me, and it took only a few minutes to recognize him as Charles Knudson. He told me that this was not a tourist camp but the famous Health Rest Camp owned by Lucille and Frances Zappa. He explained that it was in reality a small community, with all the conveniences of a small town, at the disposal of the guests. We began to speak of old times at Dwight and he told me that Elizabeth Ely, Marie Englert, and Lucille Haag were the owners of a smart restaurant in the camp.

I secured a cabin and after a restful sleep began to explore the grounds. I was attracted to the outdoor gymnasium by the sound of laughter. Here, under the leadership of Eudora Santacroce and her assistants, Mary Davis and Mary Duay, the women of the camp find recreation.

After watching a short time, I wandered down to the beach of a small lake where I found the trainer, Robert Drew, teaching men how to play football in the water. On the beach, watching, were that famous comedy team, Marilyn Metta and Jack Myers. They informed me that they were taking a much needed rest before starting a new radio program. Turning around, I beheld a tall nurse with beautiful golden hair. She looked familiar, and I walked over to her. It was Dorothy Schmidt, the nurse who cares for any campers who become ill or injured. I asked her about her friends, Catherine Grieff and Rosemary Woodward. She explained that the last she had heard from them they were both happily married.

Leaving Dorothy, I went to the general store at the edge of the camp and bought a morning paper. There in the headlines were the following words: "Donald Turner Sets New World Record." Reading on I discovered that Don had driven his racer 800 miles an hour on the track at the great Salt Lake in Utah. This seemed to me to be a breath-taking speed, and I turned to the man standing beside me to tell him about it. He informed me that Don was a classmate of his, and looking closer I recognized Edward Herb, more commonly known as "The Czar of the Super Market." He and his secretary, Ellen Olson, were down here to try to encourage the Zappa sisters to set up a Super Market in their Health-Rest Camp.

Just then Mary Dransfeldt, the secretary of this marvelous resort, handed me a telegram which ordered me back to the home office to start out on a new assignment. Patricia Burns had been given my position, and she and her traveling companion, Winifred Long, were to arrive here soon to take over.

Returning to my cabin to pack, I noticed a large van moving in. On the outside was painted "The Five Furries Basketball Team." This is the team which you have undoubtedly heard about. They have not been defeated in five years of ball playing. This team is composed of Harry Laubhan, Laurence McConnell, James Landon, Wayne Bloxam and Raymond Mathison. Managed by Donald Sodini and coached by Howard Burkhart, this is truly an amazing quintet.

In my cabin there was another telegram which informed me that I had been appointed Foreign Correspondent to South America, a goal toward which I had striven for years.

The Characteristics of A Good American

Everyone of us is proud to be an American citizen, but we can be more than just that—we can be good American citizens.

A good American will respect the rights of others—in school, homes, at work—any place where he comes in contact with people. In school, he will follow the advice of his teachers and take part in class recitations and outside activities; at home, a good American does his share of work and respects his parents; at work, he will try to get along with his fellow workers and his employer, and he will do everything he can to justify his employer's faith in him.

A good American is educated. Not only does he study his lessons in school, but he is up-to-date in world affairs—the war, politics, and prominent people in the news. He will study his own government—its history and its founders—and he will be proud to be a citizen of the greatest country in the world.

Propaganda will have as little effect as possible on a good American. That is, he will not have a hatred of the people of the countries opposing the United States just because their rulers act without giving an apparent thought to human rights and lives. He will also not let himself be led astray by anyone who speaks against this government.

A good American believes in God; and whatever his religion, he will respect the other religions and will not make fun of them.

To keep his body and mind healthy is the duty of every American. He knows how valuable a healthy body is in that he can do his work right; and if his body is healthy, his mind is likely to be clean also. A clean mind and a healthy body will be contributing factors toward keeping a person on the alert and being a good American.

Without being asked too many times, a good American will perform the duties that are his as a citizen of these United States. One of these duties is to vote. If he does not vote regularly or doesn't take an interest in voting, he should not criticise the government or any of its officials. Voting is both a right and a privilege.

An appreciation of the form of government we have and what it does for us is another characteristic of a good American. No matter what his political affiliations may be, he will be behind the President in whatever he does in times such as these because the President uses caution and the advice of others to do what he thinks is best for all of us.

Among other things, a good American will show his appreciation of the fact that he is a citizen of such a grand country by buying defense stamps or bonds and supporting in any way he can the efforts being made for the benefit of our fighting forces. And last, but not least, he will thank God that he is an American.

—Gladys Campbell.

Class Will

To Margadette Moffatt, I, Clara Ogg, leave my gleeful laugh.

I, Ellen Olson, leave my ability to make friends to anyone who may need some.

To Robert Stroebel, I, Laurence McConnell, will my worries about school, my job, and the draft, in the hope that he can overcome them.

My excellence in playing basketball, I, Raymond Mathisen, bequeath to Dale Carpenter.

I, Jack Myers, will my Ransom background to Fred Zabel, who seems to like the town very well.

I, Lorraine Osborn, bequeath my interest in gymnastics to Betty Asa.

To Robert Fortner, I, Dorothy Petersen, will my interest in school.

My wavy hair, I, Wallace Patten, will to Richard Forsterling.

To Herbert Drew, I, Leigh Roberts, bequeath my interest in the band.

To any freshman desiring to learn, I, Harold Rohlfs, leave my ability to dance.

My titian locks, I, Alveta Rhode, will to Madelyn McKinney.

To the most deserving junior girl, I, Dorothy Riber, leave the good citizenship award.

I, Eudora Santacroce, bequeath my definite ideas about going steady to Ruth Reece.

My erectness, I, Robert Sereno, leave to Wray Call.

I, Donald Sodini, leave my habit of sleeping in assemblies to Gene Currie.

To Raymond Carty, I, Donald Turner, leave my half days at school.

My pleasant manner of speech, I, Dorothy Schmidt, bequeath to any one who needs this fine quality.

My piano playing, I, Patricia Waters, will to Frances Dickler.

To the many friends interested in her, I, Rosemary Woodward, leave my younger sister.

I, Donald Wilder, leave my ability to get along with girls to Kenneth Ingram.

To Juanita Ewing, I, Ronald Wilder, bequeath my witty remarks.

My experience as a trainer, I, James Zappa, leave to Robert Nelson.

I, Frances Zappa, will my studiousness to William Doran.

My ability in mathematics, I, John Zappa, leave to my brother, Bill.

After due consultation, I, Lucille Zappa, have decided to leave behind me nothing which I have obtained in my high school work.

I, Ralph Spangler, will everything I have to my brother, to keep it in the family.

We hereby nominate and appoint Miss Violette Hunter as executor of this our last Will and Testament, knowing that she will faithfully carry out the sacred provisions of this said last Will and Testament.

We hereby revoke all previous wills and codicils by us made.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hand and affixed our seal at Dwight, Illinois, on this day in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine-Hundred and Forty-two.

Father Time

Like pieces of gold
Our school year he stole
From right in front of our eyes.
And before we knew
Away he flew
With our school days as his prize.
How fast Time goes
With the joys and woes!
And if we're not too wise,
The year is done
When we've just begun
To sit up and realize.

Limericks

There once was a lad named Jerry,
And he had a friend named Harry;
They both were quite tall,
And played basketball.
At shooting they tried not to tarry.

I once knew a boy named Leigh
And a doctor he did want to be;
He would always study
Unless out with his buddy,
For a good time he did like to see.

A senior by the name of Dot
Had a personality that meant a lot;
Chosen class treasurer
The seniors all measure her
As one of the best members they've got.

There was a fair maiden Maxine,
Whose beauty was plain to be seen;
One night she did go
With Bob to the show.
Now to Bob she means more than a queen.

There was a young athlete named Bob
And football was his supreme job;
But he studied 'tis true;
He played basketball too,
And was really just one of the mob.

A fine young artist named "Dutch"
For the Trojan News did very much.
And other things, too,
He often did do,
Needing neither a shove nor a touch.

Teachers

Of teachers, there are many kinds;
Some, I'll describe in the next few lines.

There are some who always seem in doubt,
When it comes to helping the pupil out.

Those, who are always cracking jokes,
But not when the student passes notes.

Some who are always watching to see
If the student is doing what he shouldn't be.

Those who make the student spit out gum,
When they, themselves, are chewing some.

There are some who stand outside the door,
To see if a note through the air will soar.

Of the bad characteristics these are a few,
And now I'll give you some good ones, too.

The teachers who are willing to help you out
When your lessons you have in doubt.

Some, who, when they catch a note,
Do not read it aloud just to "get your goat."

Some who are willing to let you read
In assemblies, library books, when credit you need.

Those who do not in detention send
Anyone who is trying his knowledge to lend.

Some who are always trying to say
Something to please you in any way.

Although, I'm a senior, and graduating this year,
I know I shall feel like shedding a tear,
Because I shall miss my teachers and their ways—
But their memory will be with me the rest of my days.

CLASS HISTORY

In September, 1938, the class of 1942 first passed through the portals of D. T. H. S. Eighty-nine members began their freshman march together in the passing parade. These "freshies", under the leadership of Miss Lovejoy, then elected the following people to guide their footsteps, Betty Fedderson, president; Peggy Goodman, vice-president; Mary Jane McConnell, secretary; and James A. Zappa, treasurer. Later in the season these merry marchers held a party in the lower hall, and a glorious time was had by all. At the beginning of the second semester, eighteen new members joined the parade.

The coming of the sophomore year found many instilled with the thirst for higher learning. Through the halls of Dwight High these sophomores rushed in search of educational, social, and athletic activities.

Guided by Mr. Haegele, the following leaders were chosen: Eudora Santacroce, president; Laurence McConnell, vice-president; John Williams, secretary; and Robert Drew, treasurer.

In the spring, a party was held in the lower hall. A marked improvement was shown in dancing, and everyone agreed that this party was a fitting climax for the sophomore year.

1940, and at last we were juniors! The underclassmen were at our mercy, and the seniors began to feel the effect of our competition.

The responsibilities of our now important class were placed upon the shoulders of Glenn Dippon, president; Gladys Campbell, vice-president, Winifred Long, secretary-treasurer.

On December 12, "Early to Bed, Early to Rise" was presented by the following cast: Glenn Dippon, Peggy Goodman, Maxine Mueller, Charles Hoffman, Harold Rohlfs, Leigh Roberts, Anna Kelch, Shirley Giles, Lorraine Osborn, John Brorsen, and Dorothy Riber.

Then came the event which had held our longing attention every since our entry into high school, the annual Junior-Senior Reception, known to most students as the Prom. The gymnasium, under the direction of the junior sponsor, Miss McClelland, was beautifully decorated in the class colors of 1941. This event marked the close of our third march at DTHS.

The coming of September, 1941, found us seniors at last. With much pomp and splendor, we advanced to the front ranks to assume our fitting positions as leaders of the passing parade.

Led by Miss Hunter, we selected Raymond Mathisen as president; Harry Laubhan, vice-president; Gladys Campbell, secretary; and Dorothy Riber, treasurer.

Many outstanding marchers were discovered and took part in the various special formations of the parade.

Late in May a capable Rudder Staff headed by Shirley Giles, editor-in-chief, and Glenn Dippon, business manager, presented the 1942 Rudder to the public.

Under the editorship of Gladys Campbell, the Trojan News reported a successful year. Gladys also won first place in the American Legion Essay Contest.

We were all very proud of Bob Drew who was elected to the All-State football team. Early in the second semester, Dorothy Riber was selected as Dwight's D. A. R. girl.

To raise money for our senior year, we worked hard selling magazine subscriptions, sponsoring Mixer Dances, and selling refreshments at the football and basketball games.

The class flower was the Lily of the Valley; the class motto, "Succeed—We can; We Must;" and the class colors, green and white.

On May 1, the seniors presented their annual play. Those in the cast were Patricia Burns, Robert Drew, Dorothy Riber, Winifred Long, Glenn Dippon, Maxine Mueller, Peggy Goodman, Gerald Christensen, John Brorsen, Leigh Roberts, Wallace Patten, Marilyn Metta, and Walter Houck. Other seniors helping with the production were Raymond Mathisen, Dorothy Schmidt, Lorraine Osborn, Agnes Campbell, Mary Dransfeldt, Lucille Haag, Rosemary Woodward, Wanda Johnson, Mary Duay, Harold Rohlfs, Donald Beyer, Robert Currie, Aletha Kraft, Norma Drew, Clara Ogg, Eudora Santacroce, James Landon, Ellen Olson, Jack Myers, Charles Hoffman, William Hayden, Charles Knudson, Robert Davy, Howard Burkhart, and Carl Clausen. Miss Paden was assisted in her work by Student Directors Dorothy Kemp and Shirley Giles.

Closing the high school years in a blaze of glory, the seniors participated in the baccalaureate services on May 31. On June 2, the students presented their class night program to the public. On June 4, the seniors received their diplomas at the commencement exercises.

Shedding a few tears in leaving our Alma Mater, we departed to join life's passing parade.

—Shirley Giles.
